Welcome

Welcome from the Conference Organising Committee

On behalf of the Australian & New Zealand Society of Cardiac and Thoracic Surgeons, we enthusiastically encourage you to attend the 2014 Annual Scientific Meeting to be held on the Gold Coast, Queensland from Sunday 09 till Wednesday 12 November.

Once again we are proud to hold this meeting in conjunction with the Nurses Education Day and the Edwards Lifesciences Advanced Trainees Wetlab. This day will run on Sunday 09 November.

We will be continuing the format of combining internationally renowned (and some new to the circuit) guest speakers with local content to present up-to-date and relevant programme material. Abstracts of scientific presentations are invited for consideration to be included in the programme.

The annual Registrars prize for the best paper will also be presented. We toast our industry partners for their ongoing support.

The Gold Coast offers the best surf beaches, jet boats and fishing, endless golf courses, NRL and AFL games, great running paths, fantastic hinterland and rainforest experiences, new trams - you'll want to stay!

Convergence of Cardiac Surgery & Interventional Cardiology:

The overlapping boundaries of cardiac surgery and interventional cardiology are rapidly evolving. More invasive cardiologists and less invasive surgeons are targeting similar pathologies. We need to better understand each other's challenges in order to change competition into collaboration.

This postgraduate course emphasises the use of video based education and detailed discussion of technical points to meet the continuing educational needs of cardiothoracic surgeons. The course aims to focus on particular needs and challenges of our Australian and New Zealand practices.

The faculty will present state of the art reviews and discuss latest available data and techniques. Interaction with the audience is considered vital and times are allocated for questions and panel discussions.
